

This is in regards of the No-Call issue.
I have appreciated the no-call list's services since the beginning.
I completely understood what the no-call list entailed (ie. no telemarketers could call me). I made the physical effort to put myself on a list that keeps these people out.
Telemarketers are unwanted and distrusted... Their products weren't solicited by me.. Why should I have to endure their rhetoric?
Don't allow them to steal my voice by taking away my desired request to not hear theirs.
